UNCLE SAMMY.

He Heartlessly Gives Nephew Pelton Away.

National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The Potter Subcommittee resumed the investigation of the cipher dispatches this morning. The room and halls in the hotel were packed with people. Samuel J. Tilden arrived shortly after 11 o'clock, and was immediately sworn.

His voice was weak and hoarse. He testified: "I have seen the published cipher dispatches and translations; never saw one of them before in any shape or form; had no knowledge, information or suspicion that any such telegrams existed, and had no dealings nor gave any sanction to any negotiations. First heard that Pelton was in Baltimore from Edward Cooper, who told me Pelton had received an offer to sell out the State of South Carolina. I immediately answered that no money should be paid and no negotiations entertained. There was no discussion and the conversation was brief. I sent the dispatch in ordinary language to Pelton to come home. He returned that night. I never saw one of the Florida telegrams in any shape. Did not know nor was I informed of any offer by the Florida Board until after the certificate was given. Never saw any of the Oregon dispatches referred to, either in cipher or translation. The substance of the Grover dispatch was communicated to me by some one. Some of these dispatches were sent to Pelton at my residence. They were fifteen in number. Pelton's habits and mine were different. I was still Governor of New York, and was burdened with my official duties. I had nothing whatever to do with the appointment, instruction or supervision of those who went South to see about the canvass. I determined that if the highest seat in my country was to be put up at auction and sold for the highest price I would not be a bidder. In reply to Reed, the witness said, "My private personal secretary is George W. Smith. Have no recollection of ever having seen a dispatch sent by Marble to Smith. I read the Tribune dispatches on their publication. I do not think that Smith had the cipher. I know nothing about the cipher myself."

"Had I been disposed to have anything to do with any negotiations, Pelton is the last man in the United States I would have allowed to have anything to do with it. I thought Pelton's action was officious and meddling."

"I declare before God and my country, that the States of South Carolina and Florida were sold, I agreed and consented to any effort to defeat fraud by purchase. Pelton thought different. He wanted to fight fire with fire."

"He was guilty of an inchoate offense, and the country will judge him. I can not give the name of any man who told me the returning boards had been debauched by the Republicans. The evidence is public and I have no proofs."

LAST OF LORD.

The Old Man Surrenders Up His Millions, His Widow and His Ghost.

National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Thos. Lord, 87, aged eighty-four, died early this morning. He married Mrs. Annette Wilhelmina Hicks December 31st, 1877. She was then forty-eight. He possessed more than $2,000,000, and she $300,000. He was born at Norwich, Conn., in 1794, and was the youngest of nine brothers. He also had two sisters. The only brother now alive is David, aged ninety, a dry goods merchant in this city and Philadelphia. Thos. Lord's first wife was a sister of Dr. Anderson, of this city. After Lord's marriage to Mrs. Hicks by Cardinal McCloskey, another ceremony was performed later in the same day by Dr. Vanhook, of Hyde Park, Massachusetts. After his marriage to Mrs. Hicks his children made affidavits to prove him insane. The matter ended in a compromise. Lord's mother was fifty when she gave birth to Thomas.

Mrs. Hicks Lord was the widow of Henry Hicks, a son of Samuel Hicks, shipping merchant. She married Hicks in 1852, she being thirty years his junior. At the death of Henry Hicks, three years ago, his widow became the possessor of $300,000, mostly in Toledo (Ohio) property.

She became a Catholic while traveling in Europe a few years ago. The father of Lord's first wife, Dr. Anderson, also became a convert to the Catholic Church, and is one of the richest and best members in this city. At one time Mrs. Hicks was said to be the fiancée of Gen. Schenck, then Minister at the Court of St. James. Through Cardinal Manning, Monsignor Capel and others, Mrs. Hicks became intimate with the cream of London society. She gave magnificent entertainments in various European cities as well as New York.

OUR WISE MEN

Tenderly Taking Cincinnati in Tow.

Special to the Star.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 8.—Mr. Dodds introduced a bill in the House to-day to prevent the Southern Railroad Trustees from running or operating said road.

Senator Steadman introduced a bill authorizing cities of the first class to appropriate $250,000 to purchase ground for public parks. It pertains to Cincinnati.

A Committee of the House left for Cincinnati this forenoon to examine Route 16, and to ascertain the views of property holders on the route.

Both Houses adjourned over till Monday.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Special to the Star.

WOMEN VS. LAWYERS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The House bill giving any woman who has practiced three years in the highest Court of her State the right to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States, passed the Senate yesterday by a vote of 40 to 20. It will be remembered that the Supreme Court denied Mrs. Belva Lockwood, of this city, the right of practicing in that Court. She then had this bill introduced in Congress, and has been continually at work to secure its passage.

It was noticed that Blaine was the only Presidential candidate who happened to be in the Chamber when the vote was taken. Blaine voted in the affirmative.

NEITHER PROUD NOR PARTICULAR.
All the town is commenting upon the appointment of Governor Hartranft as Postmaster of Philadelphia. Only a few weeks ago a large delegation of Pennsylvanians called on the President to urge Hartranft for the Berlin Mission. There were several changes in the Philadelphia officers, all of which were done at Cameron's order; and when it was found that Hartranft could not go to Berlin, Cameron wanted him out of the way for the Senatorial election in 1881; and as he would take any office, it was thought best to reduce him to the ranks of postmasters. The appointment was not known to Postmaster General Key until he went to the Cabinet meeting yesterday. It will be remembered that at the Cincinnati Convention Hartranft at one time was considered as standing a better chance for the nomination than Hayes, and that it was also talked of to nominate Hartranft for President and Hayes for Vice President.

GOTHAM GOSSIP.

The Wages of Smuggling.
National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Lawrence, who was charged with conspiring to smuggle silk, testified in the suit of the Government against Field, Morris & Fenner, that he received $1,000 for each case of silks he smuggled, and that Ex-Deputy Collector Deas Angos got $150.

Not Indicative of Insanity.
In the Vanderbilt will case Dr. Gray testified that he did not consider the desire to be rich as a necessary indication of insanity, especially if the patient went to work and became rich.

Who Feels Complimented?
A downtown hotel proprietor says the principal business of the country merchants coming to New York is to get drunk, and the Herald says he might have added, the principal business of many New York drummers is to supply the liquor.

Resurrecting their Disgrace.
Commissioner Davenport's testimony in his own behalf did not prove that he had acted legally in the matter of proceeding against persons claiming to have been naturalized in 1868, but it stated some particularly disgraceful facts of city politics ten years ago.

Awfully Awful Suggestions.
The London World asserts that at the reception recently given General Grant in that city the guest of the evening scarcely attracted greater attention than did a lady wearing a living beetle as an ornament. The pet was prevented from straying by a slight gold chain attached to the insect's body. Another respectable London newspaper some time since described a living ornament, perhaps the same as the first mentioned, as being worn by the wife of a well-known Congressman in the United States. Now the New York Times suggests living caterpillars for necklaces, and muffs full of tame white mice.

THE BEEF EMBARGO.

Probably a Scheme of a Canadian Cattle Ring.

National Associated Press to the Star.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—The principal topic in stock shipping and railway circles is the action of the Canadian Government prohibiting the importation of cattle from the United States. Shippers claim that it is unwarranted, and the Canadian authorities must be aware that no epidemic cattle disease exists in any part of the United States.

It strikes a severe blow at their own railroad interests, which will suffer greatly. It cuts off the Michigan Central, Great Western, Grand Trunk, and Canada Southern, from doing any through stock business, as large shipments en route were turned back at Windsor and taken via Toledo. It is charged that the prohibition has been secured by a Canadian cattle ring, who, with their inferior stock, could not compete in foreign markets with the superior animals from the United States.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Canada will rigidly enforce the prohibition of the importation of American cattle, notwithstanding an influential pressure is brought in opposition to it.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 8.—The recent order in the Council, forbidding the admission of United States cattle into Canada, is having a bad effect in Manitoba, which is almost dependent upon the Western States for its beef supply.

WARMING THE WALTONS.

How the West Virginians Serve Suspicious Neighbors.

National Associated Press to the Star.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Feb. 8.—This community has long been infested with a gang of petty thieves. Numerous corn-crisbs and chicken-coops have been robbed, suspicion invariably falling upon a few families living about a mile below this point, on the opposite side of the river, named Walton.

On February 1st at about 10 o'clock, seven miles from here, was broken into and about $500 worth of goods and valuables carried away.

As usual, suspicion fell upon the Walton family, a search warrant was issued, and their residence thoroughly searched. Enough was found to determine that the suspicion was well founded, but not sufficient for their conviction. On yesterday, however, one of the parties, named Thomas Walton, crossed the river to the opposite side, and becoming involved in a quarrel with a boy named Watkins, drew a revolver and fired four shots at him, inflicting painful and perhaps dangerous wounds. Just as he was about to fire the fatal shot, with the pistol at the temple of young Watkins, a brother of the wounded boy struck Walton on the side of the head with a hand-spike, fracturing his jaw and knocking him into the river. Walton was arrested for the shooting, and lodged in jail, but the indignation of the community ran high, and culminated last night in a crowd of citizens proceeding to the residence of the Walton family, and after causing the inmates to vacate, set fire to three, out of four, of the houses in which they lived, and to all destroyed them. They then gave the inmates of the other houses and those burned out fifteen days in which to leave the county. There are strong fears that Walton will be lynched.

The Evening News has already named the new party the National Democratic Party.

Twenty-five years ago Michigan was the birth-place of the Republican party, which augurs well for the new movement.
